The Mission Field:

I am working in Hyderabad, but the area that I am serving in is a rural area in Pakistan. I have been attached with this project since 2001 and our main responsibility is to teach primary aged students on how they can establish a self-sustaining community.

My Mission Calling:

To empower the marginalised in the community.

My Role:

Monitoring the primary education project school and planning future activities.

My Story:

I was born into a Christian family and I am the fifth generation in my family who converted to Christianity. I belong to a poor family with three brothers and one sister. I did not plan to serve God in the way I am doing now. I started working as a teacher at the age of 16 to support my family as all my brothers got married and were also committed to sustaining their families. I was given several opportunities such as studying in UK for one year through CMS UK and I got the chance to see God's hand in my life. Even though I am the youngest in the family but God has chosen me to serve Him.
